The recent opening of C.P. Hart's new St Albans showroom is the latest in a sizable programme of new locations for the luxury bathroom retailer.

Positioned on London Road, C.P. Hart St Albans combines a series of aspirational room sets alongside a dedicated design centre. The impressive 3,706 sq ft space is one of the first showrooms in the UK to unveil the latest bathroom range from celebrated designer Jaime Hayon.

Paul Rowland, C.P. Hart's Managing Director, said: "The showroom has been specifically designed to reveal our extensive portfolio and demonstrate how our full service offering can create stunning quality bathrooms to meet a wide range of tastes and budgets."

Spread over one large floor, the new St Albans showroom - managed by Chris Moone - provides an insight into C.P. Hart's international product range. With handpicked collections from the world's leading design houses including Alessi, Starck and Urquiola, alongside exclusives and C.P. Hart's own in-house designs, the room displays reveal how to cleverly match products from different manufacturers to create tailor-made concepts.

Key to the operation at its Hertfordshire location is the Design Service team. Headed up by designer Tanya Jones, the St Albans' qualified Design Service team make it their business to understand the needs and desires of each and every customer in order to suggest the right products for their project.

Bespoke visuals bring schemes to life whilst in-depth knowledge ensures concepts will work on completion.

Earlier this year, C.P. Hart also expanded its offering to include a Project Liaison Service, providing a full-service support package from concept to completion. Once a C.P. Hart Designer has produced a plan, a dedicated Project Liaison Manager will oversee all important aspects of the build, from commissioning installers to logistical planning.
